The State Road Department announces U.S. Highways in Florida will be festooned with colored highway markers. Now tourists will be able to really "see red" when they zip through some small speed-trap communities.

— PED —

Sure, it's hot. But it's not better next week with all those torrid winds pouring forth from politics at the first of the two national political conventions.

— PED —

Elsewhere in this issue the Florida Planning and Zoning Association explains how the state's economy is more stable without dependence on manufacturing and agriculture than it would be with 'em. Seems to us attempts to keep manufacturing and agriculture from booming in Florida is a little like staying in bed all day and sleeping, just so you won't get hurt. Our guess is that businessmen selling autos and appliances would rather risk having more payrolles from manufacturing and agriculture in their community than merely content themselves with having a "stable" economy with little income from manufacturing and agriculture.

BY WIN PENDLETON

VICE PRESIDENT — Who? That's the Washington question this week. If you know for sure, he isn't saying. It might even be a wide-open race, and if it is, the people in Florida will be watching their television screens with more than usual interest when the Democrats meet in Chicago.

Because, on Capitol Hill, when this race is mentioned, the name of George Smathers keeps coming up. Everybody knows he is a pal of Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington. It was Johnson who slated him for his assignment as Senatorial Campaign Manager for the Democrats in the upcoming election.

And now, on the eve of the convention, another move has been made for him. Calculated to give him the big chance that he needs. Smathers has been selected to address the convention on Monday afternoon. He will call the issues for the November elections and will introduce the incumbent senators who face Republican opposition. He'll be speaking to a nationwide television audience.

Here is his big opportunity. If he makes the right kind of speech—and he impresses the millions of people who will be watching—who knows? He might cinch the vice-presidential spot for his candidacy, though he is not a strong Stevenson supporter—he might be able to pull it off. He's all set up for it anyway. His friends have done all they can for him. It's up to him. How will he come out? Worth watching. Monday afternoon, Aug. 13.

AAIRC FOR FLORIDA? — That's the Army Applied Ionization Radiation Center. It will consist of a group of the nation's top scientists and authorities on the subject of food preservation by atomic radiation.

Senator Holland has asked Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker to give careful consideration to locating this new installation in Florida. He cited diversified agriculture, availability of water, and the many choice sites available as reasons for locating this facility in Florida. Holland has been joined in his efforts by Governor Collins and the Florida Development Commission.

It has been said that if the planned experiments are successful they will mark the greatest step in food packing and preservation in history. The Army is heading the research and development because their entire problem of feeding men

To The Editor

Aug. 9, 1956

Dear Editor:

I think it will be appropriate for the Pahokee Civic Building Committee and organizations interested, that they consider naming the new Civic Center Building in honor of Dorothy Graham, one suggestion might be "THE DOROTHY M. GRAHAM CIVIC CENTER."

I think this appropriate because of the spirit in which the building was built by the community exemplifies the spirit of Mrs. Graham in her long interest and activity in any civic improvements for the community and in honor of her years of public service.

I think it also might be appropriate for memorial gifts to be made to complete the building in honor of Mrs. Graham and I intend to do so.

Very truly yours,
An interested citizen

in the field would be revolutionized and simplified.

CHANGE OF SCENE: The Interstate Commerce Commission is moving the Florida East Coast Railroad hearings from Washington to Florida. The hearings will be held in Miami, but on Sept. 25th, the hearings will open in West Palm Beach. Question is the age-old one about the disposition of the FEC Railroad. Will it be taken over by the Coastline? Chief contentions with the Coastline is the St. Joe Paper Company group with some minor interest being shown by the Seaboard and the Southern.

BY SCHATZI

(ED NOTE: Schatzi remains in the North Country a while longer, and in her absence, like the pup Reporter has asked for a chance to put in her four paws' worth. Permission has been granted, provisionally.)

It has been quite a little bit since anybody let me near a typewriter, which is rather a shame, because in the interim I have studied the device and have come to the conclusion that Schatzi's column is easy to write.

All any dog has to do is run back and forth on the keys, being careful not to catch his tail in the letter bars, and out comes a something, heretofore known as Schatzi's Column.

In this wise, I mean: Well, Boss 2 showed back on the scene over the weekend, and seemed pretty startled that I recognized her, after her absence of some weeks.

Take off those gloves, I said. I know you.

By dern, she took off the gloves, too, saying boy am I glad to be back in Florida. Boss 1 will be along soon, too.

I bet it wasn't a half hour before Boss 2 had changed into shorts and that blue yacht cap, and we were off for some fishing.

We loaded 'em in, too. But not before Boss 2 had made a wide swing around the Glades and noticed that creeping progress is taking place all over. She seemed satisfied.

I keep wondering when she'll get her bags unpacked.

She is held in the picture by Miss Ivy Coffey, city editor of the Ponca City (Okla.) News, and holder of the Coors Award in Journalism.

I expose little Schatzi to public view at the request of big Schatzi, who is as proud of her namesake and counterpart as if she had brought her into the world. Actually, they are about 45th cousins.

Me, I had always hoped that there wouldn't be another Schatzi let loose on the world.

But this just goes to show you can't count your puppies before they are bred.

'Spud' Says: Be Sure You Keep Records-And Safely

BY SPUD JOHNSON

There is a place for everything, but everything is not always found in its place. Often this is the case when a farmer or grower wants a paper he's misplaced.

Florida farmers are finding it increasingly important to keep records. These records serve as reminders of operations that netted them profits in the past. Records are vital to successful farming.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON FOR MRS. PANKEY

Mrs. James G. Thomas, Jr. was hostess at her home, 212 Banyan Ave., Tuesday at a bridge luncheon honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joe W. Pankey in Wimbrow, La.

Three tables were in play. Mrs. Robert Applegreen won high score award; Mrs. George Arceneaux, second high, and Mrs. Jess Elliott, low. Mrs. Pankey was presented a lovely gift from the hostess.

Others playing were Mrs. Joseph Kahn, Mrs. F. M. Shaughnessy, Mrs. E. H. Walston, Mrs. E. D. Sims, Jr., Mrs. Curtis Chase, Mrs. James W. Vann, Mrs. Claude L. Shirley, and Mrs. M. C. Carter.

Mrs. W. M. DuBoise and Mrs. E. H. Walston were cohostesses at a Coke party Wednesday afternoon at the home of the former, honoring Mrs. Pankey. Guests called from 3 to 5 p.m.

Brooks Henderson, Canal Point; Mrs. Eula Miller, West Palm Beach; Mrs. Merle Penatt, Mrs. Valentina Cieslekowski, Bean City.

Remaining: Mrs. Margaret Bittner, Wilmer Wynn, Mrs. Ola Hofmeister, Belle Glade; Mrs. Estelle Woolen, Pahokee; Mrs. Lottie Joy, Lake Harbor; Mrs. Vanetta Montgomery, Wheeling, W.Va.

Births: A daughter, Carole Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harris (Lenora Johnson), Belle Glade, July 31.

A daughter, Deborah Kay, to Mr. and Mrs. James K. Bailey (Mary Frances Shortnacy), Belle Glade, July 31.

Records of deeds, loans, truck and automobile titles, guarantees on farm implements and assorted papers are common belongings of farmers.

Next time you get that urge to clean up a pile of papers on your desk, add this memo to your do-it-yourself duties: Go through desk drawers and other favorite hiding places, rounding up all important business records and papers.

Or if you already have a proven system of keeping important documents, a few minutes of cleaning out the files will bring your paper storage up-to-date.

Save the duplicate copy of the Federal income tax you file. Keep copies of all income tax records for at least five years. Some farmers keep them indefinitely and report that it has been good business to them. Filing of social security card stubs also are important in case the card you carry with you for identification is lost and you need a duplicate.

Wills, stock, certificates, bonds and other obviously important papers of top priority should by all means go into a safe-deposit box or fireproof safe. Remember, many flimsy file containers around the home won't guard papers against the heat generated in fires.

It's an excellent idea to have two copies of the list of your documents, telling where they are stored. One list should go in a fireproof spot and the other copy can be filed in a handy place at home.

Glamorous "Wide-Eyed Look"

In the days gone by the gal in glasses automatically wore the "Sad-Brow Look." Here eyebrows vanished behind thick frames, and glamour went out of the window.

Today, when women slip on a pair of Tura's new "Wide-Eyed" frames their looks are actually improved! This new beauty rage gets its name from the way in which decoration on the frame sweeps upward and outward from the nose delicately outlining the perfect browline. This has the effect of making the eyes seem wide open and alluring, and of "replacing" the eyebrows with the frames.

The new Wide-Eyed frames are the latest in a succession of optical fashion creations. Basically, every frame includes their unique contribution to optical-cosmetic fashion, which is a facial beauty analysis called "P.C.A." The idea is simplicity itself. All the optician practitioner has to do is hold a transparent plastic chart in front of your face. From the lines on the chart, which approximate the placing of features in the "perfect" face, he can tell you which features need emphasis or correction.

He then prescribes a pair of frames with the decoration so placed that minor defects are "corrected" by optical illusion. This means, in effect, that every frame is a custom-design, a same optical illusion that creates the "Wide-Eyed Look" forms a cosmetic beauty aid for any type of face.

The frames have practical appeal as well, for they are made of Tura's, a specially developed aluminum alloy that is stain, fade and burn proof. Unlike ordinary plastic frames, which are continually slipping, the new light-weight Tura frames keep their adjustment on your nose.

Styles range from tailored frames for day wear, to fabulous creations for cocktail and evening occasions, glittering with diamonds, pearls and semi-precious stones. But no matter how simple or how elaborate the decoration, the "Wide-Eyed Look" is designed to keep you in style all around the clock. And, judging by its enthusiastic reception, the "Wide-Eyed Look" is here to stay!

BAKED HAMBURGER SANDWICHES, FAMILY STYLE
1 loaf enriched bread 1 1/2 lbs. hamburger or ground beef
Softened butter or margarine 1 tsp. salt
3 tbsp. ketchup or chili sauce 1/4 tsp. pepper
3/4 tsp. onion powder

Butter bread slices and cut enough slices in half to overlap slightly on bottom of glass or aluminum 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan. Line sides of pan with bread slices, fitting tightly together.
Mix together meat, seasonings. Divide meat in half. Place half over bread layer in bottom of baking dish. Spread ketchup or chili sauce over meat. Cover with another layer of bread slices, spread with remaining meat mixture and top layer with buttered bread, buttered side up. Bake in moderate (350°) oven about 45-50 mins. Serve in slices, plain or with a tomato sauce.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, Belle Glade

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE GROUP, Canal Point

How Christ Jesus healed sickness and discord of every kind will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Master's reply to the messengers of John the Baptist will be included in the Scripture readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul" (Luke 7:22). Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached.

Among the correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (210:11-16): "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through matter, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, and bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a new understanding of Soul and salvation."

SLAKE BITE AID

Prompt action is important in every case of poisonous snake bite. The bite usually is painless, quickly by severe pain and swelling. Always get a physician as soon as possible.

In the meantime have the victim lie on his back with his head affected limb slightly lower than the rest of the body. Apply above the wound a constricting band tight enough to make the veins stand out to keep the poison from spreading. Do not apply tight enough to obstruct all circulation.

Use whatever is at hand for the cloth — a handkerchief, a piece of band, a stout string. Loosen it every 15 minutes to allow circulation.

With the tip of a knife or razor blade which has been passed through the flame of a match, make a cross cut approximately one quarter inch deep over each fang mark. Do not should connect the punctures if possible and be deep enough to produce bleeding. Do not be taken not to sever large blood vessels.

Section should then be applied over each cut. Several small pieces for applying suction are available and may be carried in your first aid kit. When a special device is not available, use a bottle or small-mouthed jar from which the air has been exhausted by burning a candle or cotton. Do not use Suction also can be done by mouth with the fluid obtained being spit into a glass.

It may be necessary to make additional cross cuts when swelling extends about three inches above the bite toward the body. Move up the constricting band beyond the swelling and make two incisions two inches above the bite. Repeat the procedure over each of these incisions. Remember to tell the physician which poisonous snake caused the bite: the rattler, copperhead, cottonmouth moccasin or coral snake.

If Hurricanes Blow ... Heed These Precautionary Tips

Hurricanes each year cause untold damage and loss of life which often can be avoided if a few precautions are taken. Here is how to protect yourself, your family, your property. It is hoped the following precautions will help reduce the death toll.

BEFORE THE STORM

Tune to radio and television broadcasts of latest Weather Bureau information. In case of power failure, a battery-powered radio will come in handy. Go inland. Get away from beaches and the low waterfront. It may be swept by storm waves. Hurricanes bring abnormally high tides, high waves. If your passage to safety is over a road likely to be under water, leave early. Otherwise you may be trapped by high winds and rising waters preceding the arrival of the storm center by several hours. Travel at the height of the storm is exceedingly dangerous.

If your house is out of danger of the waves and is substantially built — anchored to strong foundations and with its roof securely fastened — it's possibly the best place for you to stay. Put loose material and movable objects such as garbage cans and porch furniture where they cannot be blown against the building or through a window. Movable awnings should be raised and securely tied or removed entirely.

Keep trees pruned away from house. Dead branches, over-hanging branches and those which may sway against windows or roof are the most likely to cause damage.

In seriously threatened areas board up windows or put storm shutters in place, at least on the sides exposed to the most violent winds. Shutters should be securely fastened several hours in advance of the expected arrival of the storm. They are difficult to handle in a high wind.

Use good lumber and attach it firmly to the building. Make-shift boarding or insecure shutters often blow loose, do more damage than none at all. Garage doors and others having large exposed areas must be secured particularly well.

One or more windows can be kept open on the lee side — the side opposite that from which the wind is coming — to provide some ventilation and, under certain conditions, to prevent wind damage.

If wind or flying objects make an opening on the windward side of the building, wind pressure will build up within the building. Having an opening on the lee side will allow this pressure to escape, minimizing the interior forces tending to lift the roof or push out the walls.

Only small openings are advisable as long as the windward side remains intact. But as soon as windows are broken additional openings should be provided on the lee side to help equalize the pressure.

Have a flashlight in good working condition and readily available. Be careful of fire. If oil lamps or candles must be used for emergency lighting, use them carefully. In an emergency a bucket of sand can be used to absorb spilled fuel or to smother a small oil fire. Better still would be a fire extinguisher of a type approved for use on flammable liquids. Be sure it is in good condition and you know how to use it.

Have extra food on hand, food that can be eaten with little or no cooking. Remember electric power failure may leave you without refrigeration.

Emergency cooking facilities should be in safe working condition. Be particularly careful with appliances in questionable condition because of long disuse. They may cause a fire.

Sterilize and fill jugs, bottles or cooking utensils with fresh water. The water supply may fail. A tub filled with water may be useful.

AFTER THE STORM

Even after water service is restored, it may be wise to boil or sterilize drinking water until otherwise advised by your local health department.

Don't touch dangling or loose power lines or electric wires. In a storm the live power lines may become entangled with metal fences, telephone and other wires. Contact, in some cases, would be fatal.

Don't hinder first aid and rescue work. Unless qualified to render valuable emergency assistance, stay away from disaster areas.

If you must drive immediately after a hurricane, drive carefully. Watch for fallen wires and tree branches, in coastal areas or near swollen streams, beware of wash-outs and undermined pavement.

Be careful of fire at all times. Damaged communications may result in a delayed fire alarm; debris-obstructed streets can slow response of fire apparatus and low water pressure can make fire fighting difficult.

Playing spirited ball, the Reds took to the field in Friday night's encounter with only seven men, and led the 10-man Whites, 9-8, at the end of six innings.

In the last inning, however, Reds Catcher Ray Thompson bruised a finger and had to retire. With only six men on the field, Reds lost out when Whites hit 'em where defenders weren't.

County Tax Money At Work In Glades

WEST PALM BEACH — County commissioners this week took action to invest taxpayers' money in several Glades projects.

The commission approved plans for construction of a National Guard armory at Belle Glade after hearing a report that the city of Belle Glade and Palm Beach County crews had completed preliminary work for the armory and that the site was ready for the new Guard headquarters.

Original plans and contracts were approved for the construction of the Muck City road, despite the county engineer's report the $290,500 price tag on the job had exceeded original estimates for the work.

The commission also approved a $12,000 appraisal for right of way at South Bay to rebuild the intersection of State Roads 27 and 80. Both roads will be four-laned in the heart of South Bay.

County Engineer Middleton was instructed to speed up action on new bids for steel to be used on a bridge to span the Bolles Canal at Okechlania, with the hope work can be completed before the fall planting season begins.

Reds Paste Whites, Deadlock Loop

PAHOKEE — Battles between tailenders Reds, piloted by Julian Snyder, and league leaders Whites, managed by Heuston Connell, highlighted this week's play in Pahokee softball league.

Playing spirited ball, the Reds took to the field in Friday night's encounter with only seven men, and led the 10-man Whites, 9-8, at the end of six innings.

In the last inning, however, Reds Catcher Ray Thompson bruised a finger and had to retire. With only six men on the field, Reds lost out when Whites hit 'em where defenders weren't.

Tuesday night a full-10-man Reds complement turned in a mighty David-and-Goliath performance, whumping the Whites, 9-1, knocking the latter down a peg into a first place tie with Joe Sims' Blues.

Blues ran up two wins, beating the Malloy - Funderburk Greens 7-1 and 15-8.

All teams will lay-off tonight out of deference for the televised all-star football game. On Tuesday, Whites and Blues, tied for first, meet at 7:30 and Reds play Greens at 9.

In one of an every-Thursday series with a sparkling team from the Indian town prison, Pahokee All-Stars won last week, 9-8, in an extra inning on the home field.

Sonny Brown homered in the fifth inning and in the 8th pushed Glyn Carr around to scoring position with a single. Carr failed the winning run on a hit by Calvin Spooner which broke up the game. Phil Bonnell and Ray Thompson formed the winning battery, with "Big Boy" Carruthers the losing twosome.

SCOUTS PLAN SERVICES ON WATERFRONT

Boy Scout Troop 28 of Pahokee will conduct outdoor morning worship service Sunday at 9:45 a.m., the services to take place on the new Boy Scout Beach at the Pahokee waterfront.

Parents have been invited to join the scouts in worship at the service which will be the same as the hour of worship observed by Troop 28 every Sunday morning while on weekend camping trips.

Officers of Boy Scout Troop 28, popularly known as "the green bar boys," enjoyed a party and chicken barbecue supper at the home of Scoutmaster and Mrs. Louis Mims Tuesday night.

Those attending were David Watkins, Joey Alderman, Carol Watson, Sonny Young, Calvin Watson, Denny Padgett, Kyle Scott, David Simonson, Lester Lindrose, Alvin "Hotshot" Mims, Robert Lindrose, Robert Boe and Scoutmasters Edward K. Carver and Ernest (Jappy) Lindrose, Jr.

The biggest camping trip of the year is being planned by Pahokee Boy Scout Troop 28 for the weekend starting Aug. 17.

The scouts, accompanied by Scoutmasters Louis Mims, Ed Carver and Jappy Lindrose, will leave in the troop bus from Mims' home at 7 a.m. Friday, for Tampa where they will go on guided tours through the factories of the American Can Company and the Hava-Tampa Cigar Company.

From Tampa the scouts will travel north for a brief view of the wildlife display at Homosassa Springs before reaching their camping site in the Manatee Springs State Park on the Suwannee River where they will spend Friday night and Saturday.

Melvin Tillis Records Song

PAHOKEE — Richard Tillis reports that his brother Melvin has made a recording for Mercury of his own song "Time Changed My Wild Mind." Friends of Melvin will be interested to know that he will appear on Grand Old Opry after Sept. 1. Melvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Tillis, formerly of Pahokee, and a nephew of Wiley Tillis of Pahokee.

Four members of Pahokee Boy Scout Troop 28 were honored recently at summer camp when they were tapped for membership in the Order of the Arrow, one of the highest honorary organizations in scouting. The group included Louis Mims, scoutmaster; David Watkins, senior patrol leader; Kenneth Williamson and Carol Watson, junior assistant scoutmasters.

GLADES QUIZ:

"EGAD-LS BREVOSRE!"

- Q. Egad-Is Brevoire?
- A. Yep . . . Egad, for short!
- Q. Egad! What are you talking about this time?
- A. Egad! . . . Talking about plenty!
- Q. Egad . . . unscramble me quick.
- A. "Egad-Is Brevoire" is simply an anagram concoction which comes out GLADES OBSERVER when you put the letters in proper sequence.
- Q. Egad, you mean when you put first things first?
- A. Exactly. And GLADES OBSERVER comes first for wise Glades businessmen, be they near-sighted or far-sighted.
- Q. Egad, how do you mean?
- A. The wise Glades businessman places advertising in GLADES OBSERVER and puts it in his budget as a profit-making sales tool instead of a cost item.
- Q. Yeh? Why?
- A. Because he knows GLADES OBSERVER is read throughout all Glades communities by the very people he must entice into his place of business.
- Q. Egad, sounds good. Sure you're not pulling my leg?
- A. Egad, no! Try us with your advertising and you'll see we're pulling store traffic for you.
- Q. I know they read OBSERVER in Pahokee and Canal Point . . .
- A. Egad, yes! Our paid circulation is nearly 100 percent among permanent white families — the very segment of population wise Glades businessmen must woo to keep 'em buying at home.

- Q. You say Pahokee and Canal Point . . . br do they read GLADES OBSERVER in Belle Glade and South Bay?
- A. Egad, and how! Chosen and Lake Harbor, too.
- Q. Egad, how come all these people avidly want to read GLADES OBSERVER?
- A. You figure it out . . . might be because people in all Glades communities can read OBSERVER and know all about what's going on in their respective city governments and what's with their friends and neighbors.

Way back when we brought a Glades hospital situation to public attention. And, during the past several months readers have learned exclusively in OBSERVER about: Texas Cattleman Morgan Moves To Glades To Raise Cattle, Bill Pierce's Amazing Invention Of Ramie Processing Machine, Death Of Inmate At Prison Farm Without Medical Attention, to mention just a few "scoops."

- Q. Egad, just what does this mean for advertisers?
- A. Just that OBSERVER can deliver a heap of readers throughout the Glades to its advertisers, building store traffic and sales for 'em.
- Q. With school about to start and people returning to Glades in droves, I'd better get my advertising started in OBSERVER.
- A. Egad, yes . . . and NOW!

A Refugee Family Comes To America

Left, Childish delight of 5-year-old Anneliese Weger is evident as she receives farewell kiss from grandfather Johann Fischer, he kneels behind her. Above, Happiness is registered by Weger children as they primp daily for trip, Maria, 13, comb hair.

The Weger family enjoys final meal at refugee camp—Anneliese, 5, Mrs. Weger, 37, Maria, 13, Franz, 15, Josef, Jr., 10, Mr. Weger, 47, and Magdalena, 16.

Below, A refugee family, the Wegers offer prayers of thanks for good fortune which has come their way.

Right, The family sets foot on free land at New York's International Airport as they leave the chartered Pan American World Airways plane.

The prospect of a new life in America is the hope and wish of those who have fled Communist domination at the risk of life and limb. Life in refugee camps has been the lot of many who were fortunate enough to escape concentration camps. The wish to raise a family, work and live happily burns in the hearts of these people. With the assistance of Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, one of the voluntary agencies working in the resettlement and immigration program under the Refugee Relief Act of 1953, many thousands of worthy refugees have been able to make their dreams come true.

Mr. and Mrs. Josef Weger and family of five children are typical of the immigrants whose new faces have been added to the American scene. An ethnic German family, they were expelled from Yugoslavia in 1944 by the Communists. Homeless since, they moved from place to place working to sustain themselves and finally settled in a squalid, over-crowded refugee camp in upper Austria. It was a happy day when they received their visas with the assistance of the Austrian Mission of Catholic Relief Services. The Wegers' new home will be Los Angeles, California.

RABIES! - RABIES! - RABIES!

A DANGEROUS RABIES SITUATION NOW EXISTS IN THE GLADES. FOUR PERSONS HAVE BEEN BITTEN OR INFECTED BY A DOG WITH RABIES. THEY ARE NOW UNDER MEDICAL TREATMENT. THE DOG HAS BEEN DESTROYED BUT MAY HAVE INFECTED OTHER DOGS AND ANIMALS.

PROTECT YOUR LIFE - & YOUR CHILD'S

READ THIS BULLETIN CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS

IS RABIES REALLY DANGEROUS?	PROTECT HUMAN LIVES	WHAT TO DO ABOUT YOUR DOGS AND PETS
1. Yes, rabies is fatal to persons infected unless medical treatment is given. 2. Rabies affects man or mammal — any warm-blooded animal. 3. Rabies is a virus disease. It is transmitted via animal saliva. 4. Any pets — as well as humans — can become rabies victims.	1. Keep all pets penned or tied as long as the coming 90 days. If your pet has been infected, evidence of it will surface within 90 days of exposure. 2. Notify authorities of stray animals. 3. Do not pet strange or stray dogs. Even though you love your own pet, play safe and assume — for safety's sake — that it may have rabies. 4. Especially keep young children away from pets. An innocent, quick motion may startle a rabid pet and incite it to bite. 5. If you are suspicious of any bite or scratch on your child, notify your physician immediately. 6. Remain on the rabies alert at least until Oct. 20.	1. Have them given rabies-immunization shots at least once every year. 2. Vaccinate all pets over 8 to 10 weeks of age. 3. Encourage your neighbor to immunize his pets. 4. Notify county health officials immediately of any dog or pet known to have been in contact with any infected animal.

Cool Treatment for Hot Times

Frickily heat, poison ivy and sunburn are among the commonest occupational hazards associated with vacations. Don't let them rob you of even a minute of your two-weeks-with-pay pleasure. Be prepared to relieve them speedily by stowing away in your luggage a box of BELLE GLADE skin malady, it's a whiz.

For an overdose of sunburn, add a half pound of soda to a tubful of water. Pain wanes and you won't be left with a blister. A army doctor during World War II discovered that cool water soothed burns, and you can test it yourself by putting your next burn finger under the cold water tap for a few minutes. So make the water in your soda bath cool. Don't scrub, as that irritates already tender skin. You don't have to, anyway, for soda is a mild detergent which whisks dirt away. When you step out of the tub you'll not only be clean, fresh and companionable, but your burn will feel degrees cooler. Use the same treatment but with warm water for prickly heat or poison ivy, or if your tan starts to peel and you want to preserve it to show the folks back home. Just substitute the soda bath for your regular daily bath.

STATE PLANNERS SAY MFG., AGRICULTURE — INSTABILITY

(For guidance of Glades chambers of commerce, city governments and the Glades RDB, we present the following capsule digest of a report circulated by the Florida Planning and Zoning Association in its recent newsletter. The report is based on data compiled by Southeastern Research Corporation, Coral Gables. OBSERVER neither endorses nor disavows opinions expressed in this digest. —Editor)

Myth: Unbalanced Economy
People who will not think the thing through will continue to make speeches about the inherent instability of Florida's unbalanced economy.

These start from the premise that the state business is characterized by violent ups and downs from one year to the next because of the influence of tourism.

A slight decline in national economic trends is alleged to be likely to throw the state into an acute depression. The usual conclusion is that in order to balance the economy, a higher share of manufacturing is needed.

Facts indicate the opposite. Florida's economy is unbalanced only in the sense that a merchant is unbalanced because he is not a mechanic. On the matter of stability, two points must be firmly nailed down:

1. Florida economy is stable. 2. Increasing the proportionate share of manufacturing, or of agriculture, will very probably make it less so.

These statements will be hard to swallow in the face of unfounded opinions which have echoed back and forth until they have been accepted as facts. Here is the evidence and the reasoning.

Since 1929, Florida economy has been less subject to year to year fluctuation than the economy of the U.S. as a whole. As the nation goes, so goes Florida, but without quite so much veering up and down. Florida came closer to following the national trend line than did any state in the country, during the past 25 years.

The well-springs of the national economy are the primary productive activities: agriculture, mining, forestry, fishing, manufacturing. Where these predominate in local economies, there is likely to be the greatest economic fluctuation from one year to the next. Iowa has high concentration in agriculture and substantial dependence on manufacturing. Connecticut and Michigan are heavily industrial. Year to year trend lines for these states wander all over the chart.

Recent maps showing problem areas of unemployment are liberally sprinkled with dots in areas with high concentration of manufacturing. None of the dots are in Florida, which was having a very good business year at the time.

To be realistic about it, increases in the proportion of manufacturing will undoubtedly increase the rate of Florida's population growth. Considering the present fantastic rate, this is a dubious advantage. Depending entirely on the kind of manufacturing, increases may raise or lower per capita incomes.

But it is very likely that a rise in the proportion of manufacturing will lessen the stability of the economy.

ility of the economy. Manufacturing is not a cure-all. It must be selected and located with great care, or it is likely to do more harm than good in Florida.

Geographic remoteness from primary production areas in Florida to profit in the form of stability, it is not tied to the highs and lows of its own local circumstances, but to the economy of the nation as a whole as local circumstances all over the nation balance out.

These contribute to Florida's stability: tourism; winter residents; retirees; government expenditures (federal, state and local civilian payrolls and federal military payrolls together make up the largest single component of wages, and none are likely to fluctuate in the face of a slump).

In total personal income, Florida was 29th in the nation and 8th among 11 southeastern states in 1929, by '54 had risen to 12th in the U.S., first in the southeast. Manufacturing income payments amounted to 10.8 percent of the total in 1929, only 8.1 percent in '53. Agriculture's share dropped from 9.9 percent in '29 to 6.8 percent in '53.

A philosophy of expediency and exploitation guided the transition from obsolescent agriculture to obsolescent industry in many parts of the South. Marginal manufacturing operation were induced to move in by bribes in the form of tax exemptions, free buildings, moving expenses, cash donations, and the promise of cheap and disorganized labor. Old agricultural centers became mill towns and were not much better off.

The kind of agriculture which is now developing in Florida is something else again — large scale, high-production, well-organized, highly mechanized operations in specialized crops. The lot of the agricultural laborer is still one of Florida's sore points, but proportionately fewer low-skilled laborers are needed as technical advances are made in agricultural machinery.

Pahokee Dusters Wow Carolinians

It took three Glades boys to show 'em how to dust 'em off at the recent annual watermelon festival at Hampton - Vamville Airport in South Carolina.

Jack Phillips, his brother Robert Phillips, and Carmen Salvatore, jr., the former and latter of Pahokee and Robert Phillips, formerly of Pahokee, jumped into their old reliable Stearnmans to give the crowd a thrilling show. They loaded their planes with talcum powder in lieu of dusting the crowd with insecticide.

Reported the South Carolina aviation news letter: "Judging from what the spectators around us were saying, the outstanding event of the show was the crop dusting exhibition by the Phillips and his crew. How those guys could handle those Stearnmans. Across the far end of the field spraying dust with wheels almost rolling on the ground, and then steep climbing over the trees at each end of the field, banking around with minimum loss of time and distance and then back again. It was something to watch. Those boys are to be much admired for their technique, a tribute to those pilots in this business of getting at the bugs which would destroy the crops."
